

LANTRY'S WORK TO BE RESUMED

Contractor Is to Begin
Next Week on Ozark and Bixby Roads.

ANSWERS CRITICISMS

Shortage of Cement Has Been Handicap but Supply Now
Arranged for.

The first of the week will witness a resumption of work on the Ozark trail and Bixby roads, according to J. T. Lantry, contractor.

Replying to criticism leveled upon him at the regular Friday luncheon and meeting of directors of the Tulsa chamber of commerce, Lantry, who has the contract for 3 miles of county roads, stated Friday night that a general shortage of cement, transportation trouble and inability to get deliveries on cement contracts, is the cause of the delay on his road contracts.

Lantry was criticized by the good roads committee of the chamber of commerce, who stated he believed the directors should take a hand and see if Lantry could not be compelled to resume work. It was suggested that the matter be referred to the county commissioners. Lantry's men have been idle for two weeks.

According to the contractor, he is in the same predicament which other contractors of the southwest find themselves. During the past two weeks, says Lantry, he has received but three carloads of cement a drop in the bucket as it were. Lantry has contracts with four various manufacturing firms for 150,000 barrels of cement, but for varying reasons is unable to get delivery in quantity. All of the four mills he has contracted with are producing under normal capacity because of remodeling or for other reasons. But during the past week Lantry made a trip to Kansas City and conferred with heads of the cement association with the result that he was promised a more regular supply of cement, the minimum to be not less than five carloads a week.

There is no labor shortage, Lantry's men are ready to work and the road building program so far as Lantry is concerned will be resumed early next week.
